This was our year— 1971.

Time it was for us to learn many Wonderful things Not always contained in books. For mostly we learned About one another— Friendship, joy, peace, Love, & sometimes tears. But always we learned.

Looking back,
We have all become one spirit.
When we cheered or wept,
We did so together,
For this was the last time
We would all be united.
Never again would these
Fifteen hundred congregate
After our year.

IT WAS A TIME OF INNOCENCE

Unafraid, we became again Like little children.

In the moments of silence
We played the games again,
Singing songs to the wind,
Laughing aloud.
And we talked to friends
We had then—
Discovering the importance
Of a toy lost long ago.'
Returning to nature,
Reveling in the beauty of a rose
In early morning meditation—
These things have brought us
Back to a state
Of childlike innocence.

IT WAS A TIME OF CONFIDENCES

Together we have shared This most precious time, Learning so much About life And the meaning of love.

You and I
Becoming "we"—
Our friendship growing
As time was passing.
Something too special
To ever be destroyed
Was created and polished
In the days we spent together.
And now, as these days end,
Will love survive?

LONG AGO

I can't seem to recall
When things were not like this,
For the memories are so clear
That they go back forever.
The places we visited
Soon became a part of us,
And never
Will they cease to be.
The people we knew
Never did become strangers;
For what we have known
Is what we have become.

I HAVE A PHOTOGRAPH

These pages
Preserving the essence
Of all things we have done
And all we may have seen
(From time of quiet meditation
To rousing cheers at rallies)
Have reminded us
Of the times together
When we grew
Not in stature,
But rather in our understanding
And we learned
Not those things
That came from our books alone,
But from our lives together

PRESERVE YOUR MEMORIES

I remember
Bits of paper
And a stuffed doll
On the bookcase in my room,
The cover of a book
And remnants of my favorite place
To go an Saturday
These are the jewels of our youth,
Set in the golden bands of time—
Hold them dear;
They tell your story

THEY'RE ALL THAT'S LEFT YOU

All these things Unimportant to us now, perhaps) W someday be Our remembrance of days gone by As freshmen we wandered through the halls, lost and confused Our sophomore year was fraught with worries Yet sustained by hopes and promises of better things We juniors united to realize the dreams Held dear, tight, by every senior When in cap and gown we leave, All we will know Is what we have saved.

LIBRARIANS LEND BOOKS AND A HELPING HAND

The library becomes an active part of the student's life as he progresses on the road to learning. Throughout the four years, it is the student's privilege to put into practical use the services rendered by the library and its staff. Student librarians give up their study halfs to help the librarians at the desks and periodical room. The library has some 10,000 volumes to after the student for pleasure reading and research work

Mrs. Hammack and Mrs. Bundy are always willing to devote time to the students' needs. The secretarial duties and the capying machine are some of the jabs handled by Mrs. Ruth Mills as school library secretary. She is also in charge of the audio-visual aids department.

THE ABILITY TO COMMUNICATE IN VARIED MEDIA BECOMES HIGHLY POLISHED

Teachers in the English Department have had the advantage of wisdom gained through experience; all have taught at Hoover for at least three years. In addition to revealing the intricacies of the English language and exposing profound philosophies to their students, the teachers' chief goal has been to give students the ability to communicate effectively in writing and in speaking. A new course, The Bible as Literature, was added to the senior effective program.

Helping to achieve the goal of effective communication are speech and journalism classes. Students have learned the secrets of public speaking in speech and have applied the communication are speech and have applied the communication of king wedge in Viking Views

MATHEMATICS IS A SCIENCE OF INTENSE ACCURACY AND LOGIC

Students were better prepared to meet their future needs through the efforts of the math department. The multi-leveled math program complied with the abilities of every individual. The computer was used in Algebra II classes this year to aid students in learning how this mathematical machine operates. Mr. McHan used a new book in one of his classes that may be adopted in Algebra I classes next year. Mr. Kauth taught Algebra I and General Math. Fundamentals of Math. I and II, an expanded Algebra I classes was a new addition to our cornculum. New books and modern methods were investiguated to provide its destand to be students with the best and most modern mathematical education possible.

Mr. Mattachione gives helpful aid to one of his Trigonometry and College Algebra students. He is one of the many teachers who aids students with helpful passive.

tabaratory practice, dramatic presentation and classical readings were all parts of the language program at Hoover. Everything from Cinderello to Schweitzer and Virgil to Jean Valjean occupied students' time and minds. In all of our three modern languages, the emphasis is praced on verbal communication in the preliminary levels, then switched to the study of literature in the more advanced stages. Latin, our only classical offering, gives students an understanding of the Roman myths while translating from the original. A major can now be acquired in all four languages with the addition of Spanish III. The diversification of reading matter is easily seen in the third and fourth levels of German, where both. Peanuts' and Shakespearean plays are available in translation. The depart ments' efforts to modernize pay off well, resulting in greater interest in advanced studies.

Miss Martin displays a sambrero and pancho to her class. The students get a broader idea of another country's customs, and often see a connection between our country and others.

CLASSES

SENIORS ELECT RELIABLE OFFICERS

When Seprember first arrived, the juniors from last year could officially call themselves seniors. Each student seemed to have his own ideas about becoming a senior. When a boy was asked how he telt about his new position, he replied, "The seniors exercise a certain amount of power over the underclassmen. We set the standards which the other students follow." Time marches on and so does the senior class. As their high school education arows to an end, they prepare themselves to take that giant leap into the surrounding world.

Facing the seniors are many new responsibilities, experiences, and privileges. College infe lies ahead for 60% of the graduating class. Others will serve their country in the armed forces. The remaining will enter the business world and tackle a job of interest to themselves. Hopefully, Graduation Day will only mark the beginning of a lifetime of learning—all featuring how to live and love.

MATT OBEY HOLDS REINS OF SOPHOMORE CLASS

With one year of high school under their belts, the sophomores returned to Hoover for their second year. Although they were not as experienced as the upperclassmen, they were far from being amoteurs. Eric Escola, one of the few sophomores on the varsity football team, ran 83 yards to scare in the Toledo Scott game.

Not only were the sophomores represented in sports, but they also found their places in A Cappella Chair. The only sophomore having a speaking part in the musical play, Carausel, was David Pace. The Class of 73 proudly presented The People vs. Maxine Lowe, in which the leading role was played by Jody Mathie. By combining their many tolents, the sophomores produced a well rounded class.

SOPHOMORES SWING INTO A SECOND FUN-FILLED

YEAR WITH ENTHUSIASM

FROSH FIND FIRST YEAR FUN BUT CHALLENGING

As expected, the treshmen entered Hoover this year as beginners of a new pattern of ife. Whotever attitudes and patterns they developed this year will most likely be carried on through their next three years of high school.

Many apportunities were given to the freshman to guide them toward progress. Even though they did not qualify for a varsity team or A Cappella Chair, they showed much enthusiasm for the areas in which their work was required. The boys took part in different sports in which they would not compete against the upperclassmen. With improved skills, the freshmen were ready to step to a higher scholastic level.

PEP CLUB SHOWS SCHOOL SPIRIT

Pep Club, Hoover's newest organization, began its membership drive along with the Booster Club drive. The support was overwhelming and it really showed up at the Football pep railies and sports events throughout the entire year. Pep Club members spent many nights making signs that would boost the school spirit and put desire into the Jean members. Pep Club sponsored the Hush Day (which was quite noisy). They spent every Thursday night putting signs up around the school.

15 JOURNALISTS ARE HONORED

Quill and Scroll, which has been chartered since 1940, is one of the oldest acting honorary organizations at Hoover. It is a national high school honorary for students who show excellence and keen interest in their journalistic work and who show promise as future journalists. To qualify for membership, one must meet three requirements. An honor key was presented to students who met all but one requirement. For the first time, previously in ducted members deserving recognition received special awards.

There were seven speakers at the Qu'll and Scroll banque! Among them was P. Norman who presented the history background and goals of the Quill and Scroll national honorary.

D. D. Igard and B. Wilcox, who worked on the yearbook and C. Decker, who worked on the newspaper were presented bonar keys because of their fine journalistic accomplishments.

ART CLUB PROFITS IN A YEAR OF CREATIVITY

High School's Art Club was organized with the purpose of providing an outlet tudent to experiment and do his own work. The club's objective was to further the practical development of the regular art student. It gave the individual the chance to be creative and successful in his own right. Through the organization of Art Club, the budding artist can sell his work. Mr. Palmer and Miss Negulici were the advisors; Sue Marable, vice president, and Jim Wilson, treasurer.

The 1970-71 Home Ec Club got underway with a field trip to the Ohio Power Company in Canton. A hair specialist came to their next meeting and demonstrated to the girls how to "beat the frizzies" by burning their hair. The Teen Board Representatives' Fashion Show for the club members and a visit from the florist provided interesting meetings. The annual Mather-Daughter Banquet was held at the end of the year to round out another year of profitable activities.

STUDENTS AIR POLICY CHANGES

Student Council is designed to fill the gap between the administration and the student body. To fulfill this function, representatives took complaints from the students. Same of the various questions raised included dress code, library procedures, and why a letterman must have his sweater on in order to gain free admittance to a sports event. Mr. Dieringer in his first year as advisor, watched over Homecoming, Tom Dooley Day, basketball coat check, and assemblies.

GAA SHOWS THAT ATHLETICS ARE NOT JUST FOR BOYS

The high enrollment of members in GAA was living proof that sports are not exclusively for boys. The enthusiasm and activity in the freshman class was overwhelming. They have shown more interest in this type of recreational activity than any class previously. The Orange and Black basketball team was at great interest. Among the activities were swimming, playing miniature galf, bowling, skiing, roller skating, horseback riding a Mother-Daughter banquet and a Father-Daughter date night.

THESPIANS LEARN TECHNIQUES

Advancement and improvement of theater arts is the purpose and aim of the International Thespian Society. As a service and as an honorary organization, it widens the students' cultural horizons. Hoover's chapter, too, is concerned with the advancement of the theater arts. It endeavors to gain the interest of other students by publicizing its activities. The club attended a play at the Players' Guild and planned part of the busy schedule for next year.

The Hoover High Orchestra started off a rewarding season by accompanying the A'Cappella Choir in the production of Carousel. The Orchestra also performed a variety of classical music in a winter concert and a spring concert. Throughout the year the members improved their ability and expanded their repertoire.

The members of the Codet Sand developed technical skills and the ability to play together as a unified team. This training will help them in the future.

LEAGUE WITH WINNING SEASON

The 1970 varsity football squad was blessed with tremendous depth and ability. The return of sixteen lettermen from last year's squad proved to be instrumental in the team's success. The Vikings fied for the runner-up position in the Federal League with an outstanding record of seven wins and three losses.

Mr. Dan Hertler, now the Dean of Stark County coaches, led the team in his 100th game at Marlington. The Varsity squad worked and co-operated as one unit exceptionally well with each individual contributing to the successful season. This must be attributed to both the players and our fine staff of dedicated coaches which has so capably guided each squad year ofter year.

Pre-season predictions of the upcoming season were not aptimistic. However, things began to look up as performances by seniors Cody, Rodosevic, Hudak and Wolf began to pay dividends. The Vikings broke even with a record of 9-9.

Several losses were extremely close, all of which could have gone either way. The highlight of the season accurred when our Vikings outplayed highly regarded Louisville to the tune of 57-56, shattering their 11-game winning streak.

Weitman J 71

All of usIn our many different worldsComing together for a brief time,
Then dissolving once again
During the days of unity
We discovered parts of others
To be much like ourselves
Fifteen hundred friends,
A school,
Learning more than books entail,
But now, it ends

Our journey ends
Much as it began,
With songs of life yet to be
And snatches of melodies
Of what was,
Reminding us of all we have seen
And all we longed to be . . .

Time it was.
And what a time it was
It was
A time of innocenceA time of confidences
Long ago it must be ...
I have a photograph.
Preserve your memories;
They're all that's left you.
